THE AMERICAN STAR WAVES FROM THE SUMMIT OF ORIZABA.

Journal.

ORIZABA, May 16, 1848. Eds. Delta-On the highest pinnacle of the rozen summit of Orizaba waves the Star-Spangled Banner! So you may tell Mr. Polk, his Cabinet, and all Congress assembled, that they may pass what laws they please, make treaties and the Mexicans issue pronunciamentos, but still will the American flag wave over their country; for who will go up there to pull it down? Humboldt tried it and failed; it defeated his utmost exertions; and it was one of the few instances where he ever gave up an undertaking that he once resolved upon. But few others have ever attempted it since, and all came back with terrible accounts of the dangers of the undertaking; so the work was left for Yankee sailors and Yankee soldiers. For two or three days, the party were busy making their preparations—the blacksmiths in making hooks and spikes to stick in the ice, whilst the sailors were making ropeladders, snow-shoes, &c Everything being ready the party started off, composed of Maj. Manigault and Lieut. Reynolds, U. S. A.; Lieut. Maynard, of the Navy Lieut Rogers, do.; Capts Lomax and Higgins of the Alahama Volunteers; Capt. White, Dr. Banks, and Adjutant Hardaway. 30 soldiers, and two sailors of the Naval Battery. The second day they encamped 12,000 feet above the level of the sea, with the thermometer na, captured at Puebla, which cost originally standing considerably below the freezing $5000, is a gorgeous and magnificent piece of of the cold. At early day light the following morning the whole party set out. They were tug-the air becoming more rarified at every breath; but they had not ascended more than 3,000 feet higher up, before the whole party. with a few exceptions, were seized with a painful nausea and vomiting, still they tugged on, unwilling to give it up. But the party was perceptibly diminishing-the great rarefaction of the air and coldness painfully affected a great many, and compelled them to return; and when the summit was reached, all had given out but five. viz: Maj. Manigault, Lieut. Maynard, Lieut. Reynolds, Captain Lomax, and Passe! Midshipman Rogers Here they shook hands and sat down to rest from their labors, and enjoy the glorious prospect before them-Puebla, Jalapa, Cordova, the sea 90 miles off, and a host of villages on the transfer of nearly all his wordly wealth, which Anderson (S. MEXICAN ART.

There are many interesting specimens of Mexican art and taste now being exhibited on St. Charles street, opposite to the Theatre. which our citizens will find worthy of being word." seen and examined. The saddle of Santa Anna, captured at Puebla, which cost originally point. Here they had an abundance of wood, art, and displays in a strong light the great and built fires all around them; but with all skill and taste of the Mexican mechanics. It their precautions few slept a wink, on account | would be vain to attempt a description of it so rich, various, and beautiful are its texture and ornaments. It glitters with precious soon in the snow and ice, and now came the stones, and is heavy with gold and silver .-The pommel is a solid gold eagle's head, and step, made it necessary to stop and pant for the green velvet of the seat is relieved by the most tasteful and elegant gold and silver embroidery. The stirrups are of solid silver, washed with gold. The bridle is of gold cord, and the front-piece is of gold studded with brilliants and jewels of different hues. Thro'out all the appurtenances, there prevails the same luxuriance of ornament and of wealth. This saddle was taken at Puebla when Santa Anna was forced to make a precipitate retreat from that town. It was manufactured in that place. No wonder that Mexicans who ride such saddles as these are always in such a hurry to fly from our rough boys. The capture of a Mexican involves something more than a loss of his life or liberty; it involves a equipments An American soldier fights for

The dress, the expression of the face, the attitudes of the figures, which are in groups, are equal to the most finished paintings we have ever seen. We do not think there is any people in the world who can compare with the Mexicans in this department of art. The ancient Mexicans possessed great skill in carving and in the ornamental art, and the present generation has improved upon this, if upon no other quality of their predecessors. With practice, experience, science, and a more familiar intercourse with the ingenious and civilized na-

Butler King, of the Committee on Naval Affairs, for his report on the establishment of steam communication between California and China. The plan proposes a monthly line of steamers from Monterey, or San Francisco, to Shanghai and Canton, by way of the Aleutian or Fox islands, together with a branch line from one of the former ports to the Sandwich islands. By communicating with the line of steamships which will soon commence running from New York to Panama and Oregon, a monthly mail will be thus established between the United States and China, through which intelligence can be transmitted in the short space of thirty days. Should a rail road to the Pacific be hereafter constructed, the time will be shortened to twenty days, rendering this route by far the most direct communication between England and China The following is the statement of the distance given in the report, which is about half that of the present sailing routes by the Cape of Good Hope or Cape Horn: miles: 2,500 From New York to Chagres, From thence to Pauama.

THE FOURTH.—We have every reason t believe that we will have a delightful and spirited celebration of the National Anniversary. The Sons of Temperance have been invited by their brethren of Charleston to pay them a visit on the Fourth, and we learn that quite a number will avail themselves of the invitation. We learn that several excursions on the river are contemplated. The following is the programme which has been arranged by Capt. W. C. Howard, marshal of the day, for the exercises in the town of Wilmington.

At 9 o'clock, a procession will be formed in front of the Carolina Hotel, in the order of the annexed programme:-

The procession will move up Market to Front Street, and thence up Front to the Methodist Episcopal Church, where the Declaration of Independence will be read by T. Bunn, Jr., Esq, and an Oration delivered by ELI W. HALL, Esq. 13 guns at sunrise;

30 guns at 12 o'clock; 1 gun at sundown.

GEN. PILLOW AND THE COURT OF INQUIRY. -On the 22d instant, the Court of Inquiry having gotten through all the testimony in the case of Gen Pillow, prosecuted at the in stance of Gen. Scott, both these officers submitted to the Court documents, the former summing up for the defence, and the latter for the prosecution. The whole of this most extraordinary trial will, we presume, be laid before the country ere long, and then we are certain it will be seen by an impartial public that Gen. Pillow has been the object of the bitterest persecution, as well on the part of Gen. Scott as of the press, which has generally sided with the latter.

The following are the closing paragraphs of General Pillow's defence: "He [Gen. Scott] has prosecuted this case as signally blessed us, to pause—solemnly pause—

What do the Whigs of 1848 think of the sentiments contained in this eloquent extract from one of Mr Clay's speeches? Is it, too, "obsolete?" Time was (in the days of Andrew Jackson,) when the Whig papers of North Carolina—of the whole Union—quoted and lauded these sentiments to the skies, as words of inspiration. But "tempora mutantur, et nos mutamur in illis," may well be said by the Whig party. But a few brief years ago, and the idea of elevating to the Presidential Chair a military chieftain, shockit were from the battle-field! Oh, Whiggery! have you no blushes left!

Time will shew whether the American people can be once more gulled (as in '40,) by this same party. We feel assured they can-We have unbounded confidence in the good sense of the voters of the Union, and feel assured that they will rebuke, in the proper manner, this insult so unblushingly offered to their intelligence by the leaders of the Federal party

All we ask as a Democrat is, that the people will calmly reflect upon the course and conduct of the Federal party for the last 18 years. We will then be perfectly satisfied with their verdict in November next.

Such was his vanity, that he entertained sea of popular enthusiasm, to whose rushing torrent all parties would contribute, and which would, as it were, vi et armis, carry him irresistibly to the Presidential Chair. Soon, however, he began to find out his mistake, and then he found it necessary to fish for the "aid and comfort" of one of the great parties of the country. With the Democratic party he very soon saw it was no go; that they would not go for him at any rate. To the Whig party he then must needs turn his eyes. Their broken down fortunes required resuscitation; they required a stimulant in the shape of an infusion of minitary glory. To this market, Gen. Taylor has gradually dropped himself into the arms of the Federal party, is quite interesting. We shall, in the course of a week or two, publish the whole of the letters witten by General Taylor, on this subject, that are extant, so that the reader can see for himself, at a single glance, how this interesting opera-

Mr. Strohm, of Pennsylvania, is the Chairman of this Committee, and on the out. strength of his figuring, the Whigs, both in and out of Congress, made the most rabid atthe original British editions, and supplied to character has been assailed, with most relentless epistles which he thought proper to tayor the Walker. Not only does Mr. Bedinger's report vindicate the Secretary of the Treasury from all errors, but demonstrates that Mr. Strohm's report contai s about sixty-four errors, amounting in the aggregate to more than thirty-three millions of dollars. These are the errors that Mr. Rockwell, of Connecticut, the imaginary rival, in financial acquirements, of the Hon. Taylor, has endorsed and made the basis of his grand speech, intended to demolish Mr. Walker, but now having the effect of making the redoubtable cypher hundreds and thousands of good whigs in N. Carolina who would scarcely be thought qualified to fill the Presidential Chair. 3. In what connection with civil matters pray, Mr. Observer, has General Taylor shewr his "sound judgment," and "excellent good sense?" We would like to have some evidence of this beyond the say-so of the Observer. The Observer had better say, "the whigs demand that Gen. Taylor shall be President," but the people won't let them have their will. The Observer will have to try again.

THE TWO TARIFFS -The Tariff of 1842, the darling scheme of all Whig hearts, produced to the Treasury of the United States the "Yaller Kivers" We hope the ladies of the sum of $2,001,441 32 per month, during the City of Oaks will have more sense than to time it was in operation. The Tariff of 1846 mingle in the arena of politics. We know head of affairs shortly before the war broke (the Democratic revenue Tariff, and the very they assisted to sing Gen. Harrison into the abomination of Federalists of all shapes, Presidential Chair, but they ought to reflect shades and sizes,) has produced, thus far, the that the people cannot be gulled with such sum of $2,564,692 48 per month. Reader, whether you be Whig or democrat, we ask you to look at these figures, and then say whether you are a high Tariff man or not.

10-It is generally supposed by those who are best acquainted with the subject, that the United States six per cent, loan, taken on Satur'ay, the 17th inst., should the disturbed state of the European Continent continue for two years, and should the United States remain in peace, will be worth 120 to 125 dollars per share of 100. That is, it will sell at a premium of 20 to 25 per cent. Should this be the case, what snug little fortunes will those who purchased it at 103 make.

GEN. TAYLOR AND THE NOMINATION.—Gen Taylor's letter of acceptance has not yet made its appearance, but it is said by the Washington correspondents of several papers, that it has been received in that city. The old hero epudiates the statements made on his behalf by the Louisiana delegation, and says that he will accept the nomination, i. e, he will permit the Whigs to vote for him, but they must not, by any manner of means, consider him as the candidate of the Whig party, or pledged to the support of Whig measures or principles. The New Orleans Mercury, of the 21st instant, says that it was whispered about on the previous evening that a letter had been sent to that city for publication, in which he took the ground stated above. The Mercury says the excitement was great-many of the Whigs saying that another Convention must be called to nominate the "great statesman of the West"-whilst others thought the Whig party would support him without any pledges whatever. We presume the letter will be published in a few days, and then we will see all about this affair. Gen. Taylor cannot, with any shew of consistency or independence, take any other than the course indicated above. CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNOR

We understand, from the best judges, that Van Buren's ticket can scarcely get a corporal's guard in Maine or of our friends contend that it will take more votes from the friends of Gen. Most certainly he could not "On questions of domestic policy," the opinions of the individual who occupies the Executive Chair ought not to control the action of Congress! In other words, if elected, Gen. Taylor will act out the part of "King Log" to the letter. Now, le us ask the reader, what safety the South could promise herself with such a man as this it the President's Chair? A man who thinks the will of Congress omnipotent on all questions of domestic policy. The veto power vested in the Executive by the constitution for good and salutary purposes, would be a dead letter in his hands. Under his administration a tyrannical majority might grind into the very dust the weaker section of the Union and Gen. Taylor, forsooth, would not interpose the veto power to save it.

SKIES BRIGHT. - With the exception of New York and South Carolina, there never was a nomination made which has been more enthusiastically responded to than that of Cass and Butler. In these two States all, we hope and think, will yet go well. South Carolina cannot vote for Gen. Taylor and Millard Fillmore Mark that. She may throw away her vote, but we do not think she will. We predict her Legislature will elect a Cass and Butler electoral ticket. Mark that, too. In New! York, the Whigs are fully as much split up of the United States, and for other purposes. as we are, whilst elsewhere we are all unanimity and harmony, and they are distracted. In the great West, Cass and Butler will sweep everything before them. Listen to what the their first reading. Ohio Statesman, the leading Democratic paper of that great State, says:-

with a feeling which will sweep whiggery from its borders. And why should it not be so ? Her early pioneers are in the field—the men who have perilled life and limb in defence of the frontier settlements from the tomahawk and scalping knife of the savage myrmidons of Great Britain. The men that led her gallant volunteers to battle, and fought by their side, are now in the field, selected by the democracy as their standard-bearers in the coming contest. They are known; they have been tried; and in peril's hour they have never known fear. The selection of such men is a compliment to the west and the western pioneers; and their children will respond to it by giving the vote of every State in the northwest to the candidates of the democracy. In that struggle, Ohio will endorse her old pioneer and defender by a large majority over any man that can secure the nomination by the whig convention. Indiana will roll up her thousands; Iowa will show that whiggery has no abiding place within her limits; while gallant Illinois-the unconquered and the unconpopulation, has a giant soul; and there whiggery whiggery from every county in the State.

Great Cure for Consumption. For seven years I was afflicted with Consumption, & it seemed impossible for any hing to cure me. I had all the most aggraviting symptoms, as night sweats, raising blood, violent and distressing cough pain in the side and chest, debility and want of appetite. I truly believe I could not have lived but for the use of Dr. Taylor's Bilsam of Liverwort and the plessing of God, which have saved my life by restoring me to healt.
